THE OPENING OF THE LITERARY SOCIETY A GREAT SUCCESS

The opening entertainment of the Literary Society was given last Friday evening before a large audience in the Assembly Hall. The splendid programme which was put on consisted of several selections by the orchestra, an Instrumental Trio, two numbers by the Glee Club Octette and two short productions by the Dramatic Society. Special scenery had been procured for the evening and a curtain installed. The stage, although small, is a great improvement on anything we have had before.

Mr. Thomson, the president, opened the evening with a short speech in which he outlined the policy of the society and announced the programme for the year.

The selections of the Orchestra and Glee Club were highly appreciated. The Orchestra while showing a preponderance of soprano instruments is a distinct improvement on the orchestra of former years. The Octette sang two enjoyable selections which give promise of a good entertainment when the Glee Club furnishes the whole programme at the next meeting.

Miss Robb, Miss Montgomery and Mr. Robb rendered an instrumental trio which was the best musical number on the programme.

The Dramatic Society made its debut in two numbers one a dramatic dialogue entitled "A Problem for a Philosopher" and the other an Irish play, by Lady Gregory "Spreading the News." In the first of these Miss Tuttle in the character of Miss May and Mr. S. Smith as a philosopher, were both good and showed a clear understanding of their parts. But both were a little lacking in action and in a hall the size of the new one, neither spoke clearly or loudly enough to be heard at the back or in the gallery.

The second act of the Dramatic Society was an amusing comedy in which the mistakes of deaf Mrs. Tarpey result in most wonderful consequences. The attempt to initiate Irish brogue and Irish actions by a caste which included in its numbers every race except the Irish was a big undertaking but much good talent was brought out. Miss Curtin as Mrs. Fallon and Mr. J. R. Love as Tim Casey were the stars, while Mr. Westberg as Bartley allon and Miss McCrimmon as Mrs. Tarpey were also good. In this act as in the other much was lost by the actors speaking too low.

On the whole, the 'Lit.' has reason to be proud of their accomplishments and they scored a success which would be worthy of an institution with a much larger student body.

CANADA AND FREEDOM

O thou, who mingled'st freedom with our blood,
And sang'st us lullabys around thy knee,
Now chant aloud the sterner Dorian mood,
The glorious deathless song of liberty!

The Greeks were roused to rapture by the song
When they enfranchised the Aegean Seas;
Its echo rang the snow-crowned hills among
Loved by the Switzer and the Tyrolese;

Its note now peals through Albion, as of yore
When the gay chivalry, of tyrant Spain
Against our wooden walls their galleons bore,
And saw them driven helpless o'er the main.

O mother Canada! whose sons have found
An honored grave on many a spurring field,
Raise once again the spirit-stirring sound,
Bidding us die, if need be, but not yield.

O noble Mother! at thp feet we bow
Mourning thy sons asleep across the sea
Beneath the stars of France; accept our vow.
We offer up our all to keep thee free.

A ZEPPELIN RAID.

The Zeppelins were coming. Their menace had kept Enfield awake for the past three nights, and now special constables and men in khaki were patrolling the semi-darkened streets to be ready for any untoward event. Firemen hurried along on their motor cycles to be on hand, should the night-flyer with premeditated art, send the death-dealing explosive, and the pale blue incendiary bomb. Chase Side had not known such a stir since the time when Gentlemen-in-waiting to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, occupying the Gentleman's Row in the Chase, had gathered there to watch the glare of the beacons on Blackheat, and had heard the guns from the Tower, booming forth the news of the coming of the Spaniard. Here also, Enfield citizens had awaited anxiously the news of the Kingmaker's defeat at Barnet, and later inhabitants had seen the conspirators in the Rye-House Plot go forth to intercept the Merry Monarch. Keats also, as a boy, had no doubt, strolled along the Chase to witness the celebrations following Trafalgar, and now in the twentieth century clarks from the Clearing House, snobs from the Stock Exchange, and munition men from the small arms factory, collected to view the rapid transit of the search lights as they policed the heavens, and to listen for the guns at the Tower, heralding the approach of aircraft.

A faint apology for a light crept through the small space at the base of a street lamp glass that had not been blackened over, and shed its rays upon a group of men and women who had assembled outside Lamb's cottage. The men were bare-headed and without neckwear; the women were likewise bareheaded but each had a light shawl thrown over the shoulders to keep out the chill of the night air. To say they were not anxious would put a wrong interpretation upon their feelings, for had they not seen the shattered houses at Waltham and the mangled bodies brought out for the mortuary? Hence they waited expectantly while the men smoked, and the women chatted, regaling the time with anecdotes of last night's raid that had followed the road through Edmonton to Waltham Cross and Chesunt, made famous by John Gilpin's ride.

The barman from the King and Tinker was telling how the policeman in Lady French's grounds had hidden in a ditch while the bombs dropped in the flower-beds. He was unaware of the fact, that among the Domestic State Papers of Elizabeth's reign, there was a letter of Lord Burghley's on record telling a story at the expense of a former Enfield policeman. However, the attention of the bystanders was drawn from the barman's anecdote by a motor car dashing down the Chase Side with lights full ablaze. At a darkened portion of the road the lights were seen to turn upwards and at the same time the whirr of machinery was heard immediately overhead. All eyes were straightway fixed on the star lit sky and after a few tense moments the search lights from all over London, before darkened, now blazed out in feverish one and then another of the flash-lights picked up the scent dred places the dark canopy of night. A million eyes were watching their motion and it was but a few minutes before one an dthen another of the flash-lights picked up the scent and concentrated on a silver-coloured, cigar-shaped object, hovering five or six thousand feet over London. It hung in a halo of light to the full view of the whole city. The sound of guns brought all the inhabitants of Chase Side into the street, except the Belgian refugees, who, having experienced a bombardment, did not concern themselves with matters of minor moment. Spurs of red light again and again appeared underneath the Zeppelin, as the shrapnel shells burst and the sharp reports of the defence artillery came in marked contrast to the heavy boom of the enemy's ammunition. ## LADIES

During the last week tests have been occupying the thoughts of all right-minded Wauneitas. So overwhelming was our sudden interest in our studies that it was decided to postpone the regular meeting of the Wauneita Society till a time when we might be more easily torn from our books. It is strange what a shock of revelation attends each test week. The fact that we have gone to lectures and taken notes with the utmost regularity and precision seems to avail nothing when that dread time of trial approaches. The tide of knowledge seems to ebb away from us leaving us stranded upon the barren shores of ignorance. As we sit surrounded with books and papers, feverishly trying to make up for lost time, what prangs of remorse and regret lay hold upon us! What noble resolutions we form! Never again shall we be caught thus unprepared. But alas for human nature! When next time comes it is the same old story,— "For we're only poor weak mortals after all."

The Wauneitas have come to a highly satisfactory agreement with Mason & Risch about the use of a piano for the year. We are to pay $5.00 a month rent for the one we have at present, and next year, if circumstances and the Students' Council permit, we are to buy a new piano to match our room, from the cost of which this year's rent is to be deducted.

THE COMPLAINT OF CIRCE

For eight long years around these halls, I've spent
A tedious time; as daughter of the Sun,
I, Circe, skilled in music of the spheres
Since they began their even course to run,
Have tempted these fair students of the West,
Not by the martial swing of Dorian mood,
But by the lighter Lydian air, to move
In graceful easy motion to the wood,
And sip the fragrant nectar from my cup;
For by Apollo's sweetest note, I'll cheat
Chaste Cynthia, cold votaress, who stays
The dance, when hearts are warm, and pulses beat.
Here have I charged the youngest of my sprites,
Fair one step, to engage the dancing crowd
And make them more inclined to taste my cup,
The which in College halls is not allowed.
And now I learn he's banished from the place,
By a foul and most calamitous decree,
In solemn conclave many students sat
And drove him from their holy sanctity.
There is some subtle mischief in this work;
Poor souls that think to 'scape my charmed drink
By banishing a harmless little sprite.
Their faltering lips now trembling at the brink,
Shall take a deeper draught, and quaff anon
The fullest measure of my liquid fire.
For hymn tunes sung at meetings of the 'Y'
I'll give them music from my sacred lyre.

INTER ALIA

R. P. Forster visited us the other day.

Andy Wilson was up for the week-end.

Alas! Poor Harry! The one step has departed from our midst.

Hollies and Kidd may be some prospectors but it takes the pros to show 'em how to pack.

Joe Doze '13 came up for a few days to take the A. L. S. Exams. C. W. Ritson is also in town.

Little Arthur tried to annihilate the University Corps by charging on his bicycle, but didn't quite succeed.

Hurrah! Platoon No. 1 have their uniforms.

Garrioch remarked at the table that the cakes were just "like Mother used to make" whereupon Westberg was heard to ask for the bread.

Chesty went to a dance in the Separate School hall on Saturday night.

About 1 a.m. last Sunday we heard some-one singing, "Oh! what did we do to the College," etc. Wonder what they meant.

What is the most nervous thing next to a girl? That's easy. A freshman next to a girl.

WITH THE COLORS

The 2nd Universities Company in Action

Corporal A. T. M. Glanville, No. 2 Company, P.P., 80th brigade, 27th division, has written a letter to his parents in the city, of which the following is an extract.

"We are in the pink of condition, with the exception of Alex. McQueen and Bill Moyle, both from the University of Alberta. Alex's section was occupying the look-out trench, about six hundred yards or so on the right of my section, and about forty yards from the Germans. The "Boshers" sent out nine or ten trench mortars right into Alex's section of trench, and a fellow named Johnson, of Nelson, was killed. Bill Moyle had his face badly smashed and will lose an eye, they say, and possibly two. His ears also are damaged. Ferguson, a fellow from Montreal, had an arm very badly damaged, and Alex. was hit by a wicker-basket of rocks that fell on his back. He went down to the base hospital, but his back is all right again.

"Alex. McQueen behaved with the greatest bravery, and even after he hurt his back, he climbed out in front to help Moyle and the others, until ordered to come back, as the Germans were shooting at him, but very fortunately missing him. He sure deserves the greatest praise, and one of the officers spoke very highly of his courage.

"These trench mortars are awful rigs. They don't do much damage except immediately where they fall, and as they are about the size and shape of a five-gallon oil can, and filled with high explosives, they make an awful noise, and it gets the "goats" of some fellows.

"Alex's traverse was a piece of trench cut out of solid chalk rock, but the one that lit into it made the place look as if there were no trench at all. These things can only be shot from a distance of about four hundred yards, and can be seen coming through the air and over-ending like a keg. The racket they make is something terrific. Alex. doesn't know what fear is. One came into the trench, but before it exploded he picked it up and carried it outside his traverse. If it had gone off it would have landed him about a mile away. All the casualties were men of our 2nd Universities' Company.

HELP THE SOLDIERS

The Students' Union or the University of Alberta, on Oct. 28 1915, created a new organization by the name of "The University Soldiers' Comfort Club." The object of this club is to collect and send articles of luxury and comfort to the University boys who are fighting at the front. All parcels can be sent directly to the boys through this office. The following officers were elected:

President: L. B. Brown.
Vice-Pres.: Prof. M. Edwards.
Staff Representatives: Captain H. McLeod and Miss Tuttle.
Sec. & Treas.: W. J. McKenzie.
Committee members:
E. J. Van Petten.
Miss Cora Armstrong.
Miss G. Devenish.
M. E. Tiffin.
Wm. Berry.

THIRD TO ENLIST.

The following is from the McGill Daily.

"Pte J. Crawford Anglin who is in barracks here with the fourth Universities Company, reinforcements P. P. C. L. I. has two brothers who are in khaki. Sydney E. Anglin is a lieutenant in an overseas unit at Toronto, while another brother Lieut. G. Chambers Anglin of the Royal Army Medical Corps is at present in a French hospital suffering from a slight attack of malaria. He hopes shortly to join his regiment the 10th Worcesters.

Pte. Anglin himself was previous to enlisting last month, a student at the University of Alberta."

"We are pleased to note that H. I. Beecroft, now training at Shorncliffe has been promoted to the rank of sergeant.

DEFINITE INFORMATION WITH REGARD TO MOYLE LACKING

Pte J. A. Gordon, No. 2 Company P.P.C.L.I. B.E.F. France, who went with the second Universities Company has written a letter to friends in Edmonton of which the following is an extract: Somewhere in France.

Oct. 14, 1915.

We have been in the fire trenches for two weeks now, and may probably be relieved soon. The German trenches are about three hundred yards away, and we do quite a bit of rifle firing on both sides, but we haven't been bothered with any shells. The hardest part is, that we have to wear our clothes and equipment practically all the time, and we don't get much sleep at night. Of course, we make up for it as far as sleep is concerned in the day time as we have only about two hours duty each day and have the rest of the time to ourselves. There are dug-outs, and places to sleep all along the lines. Rations are brought in every night, and we cook our own meals, which are pretty good as a general thing, well cooked, I mean. There are about ten of us in one dugout here; I mean ten men. Besides us there are innumerable rats, mice and other company which things, however, we are rapidly becoming accustomed to. We very seldom see a German and very rarely give them an opportunity to see us, otherwise we are likely to become French land owners. One of our boys was killed a couple of days ago, the first man of the second University Company to be killed. Two others were wounded, and Alex. McQueen, who was in charge of the section was hurt by part of the embankment falling on him. I don't think he was hurt seriously but have not been able to find out definitely. It is a wonder he wasn't killed because he tried to pull the other fellow out right under the German fire until he was made get down. I don't think he knows what fear is. One of the boys of Alberta University was wounded, Bill Moyle; I didn't know him but I think he was in Science. (Have just had a word that Moyle is dead as a result of his wounds). They were all pretty badly shaken up. I haven't seen McArthur since we came into the trenches, but he was alright a couple of days ago.

In a letter written Oct. 16, 1915 two days later than Gordon's letter, Norman McArthur states as follows: "This last time in the trenches our company was rather unlucky. We had two killed and four wounded. Bill Moyle was one of the wounded. I suppose he will be in England by this time. Alex. McQueen was with him at the time, but aside from being a little shaken up, is all right. It was a trench mortar which got near them; and they are bad machines. The only good thing about them is that you can see them coming and can get out of the way. Take it from me that when I see one coming my way I can make the world's record for a hundred yards look sick.

In last week's issue notice was made of the death of R. F. Barnes. It should have read "P. Barnes." It is unfortunate that such a mistake should occur, but readers will realize the difficulty that there is in collecting facts concerning men who leave behind them most meagre details, sometimes nothing more than their name.

Sir John M. Gibson, of Hamilton, and Dr. J. W. Robertson, of Ottawa, have been nominated by Queen's Alma Mater Society for the position of lector of Queen's. The election will be held in December. The present rector is Principal Dyde of Robertson College.

EDITORIALS

The Second Universities Company has been in action for the first time. When their chance came they acquitted themselves like heroes and we feel all the more proud when we learn that the men from Alberta took their full share. That small group of men who were the first to leave us last spring are surely playing the game and are going to make a reputation which it will be difficult to maintain.

The Soldiers' Comforts Club deserves credit for the energetic way in which they have arranged for the regular sending of useful gifts and comforts to the University men who have enlisted. It is only by such a systematic method that many of the men will get anything in the way of warm woollen clothing and the little things like letters, and newspaper clippings which are so easy to send and which are welcomed so gladly by those in the trenches.

In establishing a Department of Agriculture, the University has embarked in the enterprise that is in line with the work being done in most of the great universities of the Western States and Canada. The lectures in the new faculty are being given by Dean Howes, formerly of the Vermilion Agricultural School, with the assistance of Mr. Harcourt who for so many years has done good service in the Provincial Agricultural Department. Two buildings have been erected on the south end of the campus and a good harvest has been successfully gathered in. A visit to the farm is interesting and profitable.

Let us read the second verse of the eighteenth chapter of Niccolo Machiavelli.

"Our experience has been that those princes who have done great things have known how to circumvent the intellect of men by craft and in the end have overcome those who have relied on their word."

and also in the ninth verse:

"Therefore a wise lord cannot, nor ought to keep faith when such observances may be turned against him, and when the reasons that caused him to pledge it exist no longer."

The gospel, according to Niccolo must have been diligently read by Kaiser Wilhelm.

ATHLETICS

RUGBY

Varsity vs Victoria H. S.

The first game for the city intermediate championship resulted in a win for Varsity, score 12—5.

During the first quarter the "Hi" boys went into the lead when Brown went over for a touch. After this, revenge was brewing among the Varsity squad. Doze got hold of the pigskin and longing to retain the reputation of his ancestors, walked over the line. Enthusiasm was waxing high, score 6—5 in favor of Varsity.

The second half was Varsity all the way. Six more points being added making the score 12—5.

George Sereth was kept busy during the game, urging his followers to restrain their latitudinarianism and listen to the "umps". Chesty again distinguished himself by proving to be a regular Hercules, holding down two giants of the opponents during the whole game in spite of his spiflicated optic.

Varsity vs Victoria H. S.

The second game for city honors was played on the Varsity ground, resulting in another win for the U. of A. Score 21—0.

In the first half the Hi boys kept the score down, but during the second half the superior weight of the Varsity line began to be felt by their opponents and the play became onesided.

The only spectacular play of the game was in the third quarter when Knudson took three or four beautiful strides and landed over the line for a touch.

Word has come of the disastrous defeat of our old rivals the Calgary Canucks, at Regina, 17—1. We can picture the disappointment and despair of the manager. Cheer up, Joe; better luck next time.

Field Day.

The third annual field meet under the auspices of the track club was held Oct 31st and proved to be the most successful yet held.

In spite of the fact that a stiff Norwester was blowing a gale, the attendance was larger and the athletic events hotly contested. The junior year gained the greatest number of points getting 51. The Freshmen were right after them with 48. The Seniors gained 31 and the Sophomores 2.

Knudson gained the individual honors by a narrow margin, being closely followed by Clarke.

The officials were: Prof. Edwards; C. E. Race; A. L. Burt; C. A. Robb; Dr. Allan; Dean Howes; W. M. Fife; A. E. Cameron; H. J. MacLeod; Dr. Boyle; I. F. Morrison; G. R. Jackson;

Dr. Killam; Dr. Alexander; Dr. MacEachran; Dean Kerr.

The following were winners of events: 100 yard Dash—Clarke (Junior); Perraton (Senior); Becker (Soph.).

120 yard Hardles—Love; McLennan; Colter.

220 yard dash—Clarke; Perraton; Kelly.

Pole Vault — Montgomery; Clarke; Love.

Basketball which has become so popular around the University for the past few years is again looming up on the horizon. A few of the old reliables have been seen in the gymnasium getting into form.

With such an enterprising manager as J. R. Love, the game should be popular this year. A league has been formed composed of the following 4 teams: Juniors and Seniors; Freshmen and Sophomores. Non-Residents: Alberta College. Keen competition for leadership as anticipated.

ALBERTA COLLEGE*The Literary Society

The opening meeting of the College Literary Society was held on Friday October 29th.

The President Forshaw presided and in a witty speech welcomed the new students to this branch of the College activities.

A varied program of music readings and games was enjoyed by all and the serving of ices, fruit and other good things brought the evening to a close.

FIELD DAY

The annual field day—the best in the history of A.C. was held on Oct. 27th. There was marked enthusiasm from the time the half-mile procession left the College till the last event on the programme. The Ladies turned out in full force; needless to state the ladies' events were most popular and there was quite a rush of gallants to hold the needles for the thread-the-needle race.

Several new races were added. Bateman, who should have been first in the cycle race was thrown from his wheel when almost at the winning post. We congratulate C. W. Bateman on winning the championship. He is an athlete of the first rank and thoroughly deserves the cup. Campbell—our star soccer player—was only two points behind Bateman. Miss Schonert is the lady champion. Unfortunately there is no cup for ladies' events.

A. L. Smith writes from his dug-out that he is having a "humming" time but needs a wash and shave.

Claydon is well and still with H.M.S. Tiger.

J. B. McCubbin, writing from Shorncliffe states that he expects to go to the front in a week or so. As A. L. Smith is "near him" it may be that he too is now in the trenches.

Martin who was at college 2 years ago, has received a commission and is now at Shorncliffe.

Anglin is on the high seas en route for Europe.

UNIVERSITY Y.M.C.A. NEEDS MONEY*Three-day Whirlwind Campaign commences Monday

The Annual Campaign for funds for the University Y.M.C.A. commences today (Nov. 8) and lasts until Wednesday night when, it is hoped the full amount of the Budget of $427.00 will be raised. Mr. R. Sandin with his corps of over twenty canvassers have carefully planned to give every male student as well as the members of the staff an opportunity to contribute towards the work of the Association.

The Association this year is entering upon what promises to be the best year in its history. More interest has been shown in the work this year, especially by the new men than in previous years. The numbers being enrolled in Bible study groups both in the University residence and among non-residents shows how popular this movement has become. The attendance at the University Services is averaging about double the number of last year. The choir has increased in numbers and is in a flourishing condition. The committee plans to bring several well-known speakers from out of town to address the students at these services, including Dr. Oliver, principal of the Theological College, Saskatoon. Of course, all this means more outlay but it has been felt that if the religious life on the campus is to have more room for development the matter of a few dollars should not stand in the way.

The Y.M.C.A. has always stood for the highest type of life among students. It is the one great interdenominational organizations at work here for the purpose of enlisting men in active work for others. Last year over 300 men were reached by students in the Social Service Department and scores of boys were given the advantages of the companionship of college men.

A popular item in the Budget this year will no doubt, be the $35.00 which the Y.M.C.A. proposes to give towards the work of maintaining a Y.M.C.A. representative at the front, but this year it was felt that a better outlet would be towards the work of this club which comes home to so many of us who are acquainted personally with our men who are now in the trenches.

Let us all do our bit when the canvassers call and there will be no fear of the result.

PANTAGES THEATER

The current week's program at the Pantages Theater, presents a bill of great variety and one that provides the best of vaudeville entertainment. First in the list of unequalled offerings, is the act of the Four Caster Brothers, the World's Greatest Aerial Gymnasts. These men begin where others leave off. They have no equals either in the vaudeville or circus field for daring and skillful feats while flying through the air. "The Game of Love" is the title of the added feature for the week. Attractive girls in graceful dances and timely songs and funny comedians are the foremost attractions in this novel offering. Other acts of merit this week are: Knox Wilson, the famous comedian; Jarvis and Harrison in an original singing and talking skit; and Harry LaToy, a comedy juggler.

ATHLETICS

College exhibited considerably the better form and combination. Though the Varsity, however, had to resume play with the score 3—0 against them, they put up a vigorous fight in the second half, and scoring two goals, it almost seemed for a time as though the game might end in a draw. Wood did excellent work for the green and gold and several times jeopardized Alberta's goal; but the College team were out to win and the game ended 4—2 in their favor.

A ZEPPELIN RAID

exclamation of horror went up from the crowd as a pale blue streak travelled earthwards from the airship followed by others in quick succession, and then as the chrapnel burst nearer and nearer the aircraft slowly turned upward and disappeared. The sear lights died away and in their stead came a dull red glow, growing larger and larger, testifying to the efficacy of the coloured incendiary messengers from Germany.

One by one the night watchers went home. A novelist fifty years hence will speak of their grim determination, their "unconquerable will and study of revenge"; some poet will seek for language wherewith to express their feelings, for all of them had brothers or sisters or friends in the city; some historian will glean a few facts to make up a saleable history. But novelist and poet and historian will all fail to breathe into the tissue of their work the Anglo Saxon spirit that awoke from its long slumber that night. It was as though the berserk of their great ancestors had once again been aroused. Senlac and Agincourt, the Armada and Waterloo leapt from their dusky records, and stood apart from their cerements, the unlaid phosts of a great historical past.

—H. R. Leaver.
